MANUFACTURERS OF LAP WELDED
Tubing & Casing
Both Plain and Galvanized, for Oil and Salt Wells, American Charcoal Iron Boiler Tubes, Lap Welded Tubing for Steam and Water.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF
W. C. ALLISON'S
PATENT JOINT
Oil Well Tubing.
This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets, and is cut with a visibility sized thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the thread, and the absence of a deep thread allows the pipe end of the socket opposite the bell to bank at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.
Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch.

Tubing & Casing.
We would call the particular attention of oil men and producers to this make of Tubing and Casing. One of the important features in the manufacture of our Tubing is, that the Lap and the Weld
are made perfectly straight in the manufacture, thereby giving equal and great strength to the tubing throughout.
Each joint carefully inspected, reamed at end, and proved with the sockets on, at a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch before shipment.
Each length stamped with our trade mark,
Diamond "B."

The undersigned hereby give notice to manufacturers and parties making, selling or using Drilling Jars made of wrought iron or steel combined, that by virtue of certain assignments duly recorded at the United States Patent Office, we own the sole and absolute right, title and interest in three patents for Drilling Jars; one granted to James C. Eastman, in July, 1867, and two to Edward Guillod, in May, 1868; said patents covering all Jars made of wrought iron and steel combined, and applied substantially in the manner represented in said patents, and generally known as steel jars.

Griffin's Patent WATER PACKER!

This is one of the most useful Patents for oil operators ever invented. It the several advantages over any other Seed Bag or water packer in use. It can be put down quicker and is instantly ready for use as there is no waiting for seed to swell, which by giving quick action to the well, is kept clean. It can never fasten tubing or casing in a well so that it cannot be taken out readily.

Titusville Morning Herald.

Who is Responsible?

From the New York Tribune.

But this is not the main issue, as the record stands, set forth when, applied by the President, of Wednesday, it for once proclaimed the "real sentiments" of Mayor Hall. Order No. 57 was flagrantly wrong; but that of itself did not provoke the slaughter on the 12th. Had it been left to stand, liberty would have received a wound, but our streets would have been unstained by blood. Not till Governor Hoffman interfered to overrule Mayor Hall and reverse the order was a riot invited. The World fully understands this, since on Thursday it plainly said that Mayor Hall had not consult with Gov. Hoffman and secure his consent to the order suppressing the Orange parade, lest he should be tempted to treat the chief magistrate of the State with due consideration; and, on the other hand, if such consultation took place, and the Governor consented to the policy of the Mayor, his interference to overrule it evinced either a want of foresight, or a lack of firmness and determination. Either the policy first adopted by the Mayor, or the policy substituted at the last moment by the Governor, would have been defensible; but ingenuity seems to have been put into requisition for the purpose of disassociating the Governor and Mayor from all responsibility for the outbreak. Let this be understood, that Governor Hoffman was in our city last Monday, when the approaching collision was the general topic. He conferred with Mayor Hall through General Shaler, one of his staff, as it was most fit that he should do. Not to have done this, under the circumstances, would have been a crime. Did Mayor Hall tell Governor Hoffman to understand that he proposed issuing a Police order next morning prohibiting the Orange parade? If he did, and the Governor left, for Albany without overruling the Mayor's policy (which he did thirty hours later), then the bloodshed of the 12th stains the hands of the Governor, and cannot be washed out. If, on the contrary, Mayor Hall concealed his purpose from the Governor, then the Mayor is the great criminal, and the Governor stands vindicated.

What is the truth in the premises?

Tad Lincoln.

From the New York Tribune.

Most of those who read the dispatch announcing the death of Thomas Todd Lincoln will "never think of the well-grown, young gentleman who died on Saturday at Chicago." The name of "Tad" is a pet name given by Lincoln with his first stammering utterances and adopted by his fond parents and the world—recalling the vivacious little sprite who gave to that sad and solemn White House of the great war the only comic relief it knew. The years that have followed, spent in study and travel, produced an utterly different person. The Tad Lincoln of our history ceased to exist long ago. The modest and cordial young fellow who passed through New York a few weeks ago with his mother will never be known outside of the circle of his mourning friends. But little Tad will be remembered as long as any live who bore a personal share in the great movement, whose center for four years was at Washington.

He was full of life and vigor—so bubbling over with health and high spirits that he kept the house alive with his pranks and his fantastic enterprises. He was always a "chartered libertine," and after the death of his brother Willie, a prematurely serious and studious child, and the departure of Robert for college, he installed himself as the absolute tyrant of the Executive Mansion. He was idolized by both his father and mother, petted and indulged by his teachers, and jawed upon and harassed by that noisome horde of office-seekers which infested the antechambers of the White House. He had a very bad opinion of books, and no opinion of discipline, and thought very little of any tutor who would not assist him in yoking the kids to a chariot, or driving his doves tandem over the South Lawn. He was as shrewd as he was lawless, and always knew whether he could make a tutor serviceable or not. If he found one, with obstinate ideas of the superiority of grammar to kite-flying, as an intellectual employment, he soon found means of getting rid of him. He had so much to do that he felt he could not waste time in learning to spell. Early in the morning you could hear his shrill pipe resounding through the dreary corridors of the Executive residence. The day passed in a rapid succession of plots and commotions, and when the President laid down his weary pen toward midnight, he generally found his infant goblin asleep under his table or roasting his curly head by the open fire-place, and the hall child would pick up the child, and, trudge off to bed with the drowsy little urchin on his shoulder, stooping under the doors and dodging the chandeliers. The President took infinite comfort in the child's rude health, fresh fun, and unconquerable boisterousness. He was pleased to see him growing up in ignorance of books, but with singularly accurate ideas of practical mechanics. He was a fearless rider, while yet so small that his legs stuck out horizontally from the saddle. He had that power of taming and attaching animals to himself, which seems the especial gift of kindly and unlettered natures. "Let him run," the easy-going President would say, "he has time enough left to learn his letters, and get pokey. Bob was just such a rascal, and now he is a very decent boy."

It was evident that with all his insubordination and reckless mischief the spoiled child was at heart of a truthful and generous nature. He treated flatterers and office-seekers with a curious coolness and contempt, but he often espoused the cause of some poor widow or tattered soldier, whom he found waiting in the antechamber, and it was most amusing to see the hearty little fellow dragging his shabby proteges into the Executive presence, ordering the ushers out of the way, and demanding immediate action from headquarters. The President rarely refused a grace of this kind, and the demands were not so frequent as to lose the charm of novelty.

One of the tricks into which his idleness and his enterprise together drove him was the occasion of much laughter to the judicious, and much horror to the respectable in Washington. He invested, one morning, all his pocket money in buying the stock in trade of an old woman, who sold gingerbread near the Treasury. He made the Government carpenters give him a board and some trestles, which he set up in the imposing porte-cochere of the White House, and on this rude counter displayed his wares. Every office-seeker who entered the house that morning bought a toothsome luncheon of the keen little merchant, and when an hour after the opening of the booth a member of the household discovered the young pastryman the center of a group of grinning servants and toadies, he had filled his pockets and his hat with currency, the spoil of the American public. The juvenile operator made lively work of his ill-gotten gains, however, and before night was penniless again.

Although still a mere child at the death of his father, this terrible shock greatly sobered and steadied him. His brother Robert at once took charge of his education, and he made rapid progress up to the time of his sailing for Europe with his mother. He has ever since remained with her, displaying a thoughtful devotion and tenderness beyond his years, and strangely at variance with the mischievous thoughtlessness of his childhood. He came back a short while ago, greatly improved by his residence abroad, but always the same cordial, frank, warm-hearted boy. In his loss the already fearfully bereaved family will suffer a new and deep affliction, and the world, who never did and never will know him, will not withhold a tribute of regret for the child whose gayety and affection cheered more than anything else the worn and weary heart of the great President through the sublime years of the war.

Corea.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF ADMIRAL RODGERS' VICTORY OVER THE NATIVES.

The following special account of the Corean fight was received by the American from Shanghai, having been brought by the Palos, which left Corea, June 5, to Nagasaki and bring up some eight indefinite days from the time the last arrived at Jerome Gulf on May 20th, and reports that they were one day surveying the channels between the various islands, finally coming to anchor at a point designated on the French charts as the Isle of Boisee. The three days that the surveying party was away they met some natives who sent off a communication asking where we were from and hoping we were well. On Monday of the week a number of Coreans of the third and fifth ranks came aboard. Governor Low's interpreters received them, they not being of a rank to be received by the Admiral or Minister. They were shown about the Colorado and distinctly told that we intended to start a surveying party up the river and that our mission was peaceful, and that we should not attack or molest them unless they first assailed us. They expressed themselves as committal, glad to know that our mission was peaceful, and, as I believed, that they were satisfied.

On Thursday the Monocacy and Palos, with four steam launches, two from the Colorado, the Alaska and Benicia, left the ships about half past seven and, passing Jun Kaughoa, an island at the mouth of the river Saleo, and survey. The party from the Monocacy, under Capt. McCrea, numbered 170, and from the Palos, under Capt. Rockwell, 50. The launches manned, eleven men each. Capts. Homer C. Blake, was on the Palos. Accompanying the expedition were Cowie, private secretary to Minister Low, on the Palos. Meers. J. McCaslin and Ed. A. Julesburg, Paymaster Spaulding of the Palos, was with Lieut. Tilton, and Capt. Caswell, Mr. Blessen, of the Colorado, with Lt. Meiu. The boat parties were armed with cutlasses, pistols, and Remington rifles. The Benicia launch carried a twenty-pan pounder in her bow. The others were provided with twelve pounders, all having a good supply of shells, canister, and scrapnell. Availing themselves of the flood tide, the launches went ahead abreast up the Kanghoa river, sounding as they proceeded, the Palos and Monocacy following at convenient distances. The boats, which were unmolested for some time, prosecuted their work regularly on the river, which is here a mile wide. That day was bright, pleasant and all was well. All approached a narrow portion of the river about ten miles from Colorado. Here a great turnout of white coated Coreans was noticed on the bluff of the left bank with flags flying, presenting quite a marked array. A nearer view indicated their number to be about two thousand men, clothed in white coats not unlike the present European overcoats, white pajamas tied at the ankle with a pure sack and, light summer shoes. Mid Chinese wear. There were two guns visible on each bank, apparently armed with a forward of sixty-nine eighteen pounders and [illegible] the narrow passage in the bend of the river. The one on the right bank was smaller of the two, and was not noticed at all during the fight except by a shot or two to find if any was stirring thereat. But the main fort of the left bank lying nearly hundreds of feet from the water's edge was evidently the stand point of the Coreans and from which they expected to intimidate or drive away in dismay the foreigners.

The launches kept on at their business without heeding the spectacle presented on the bank. The Benecia launch had meanwhile dropped astern owing to the load line fouling her screw, so that when the party came opposite to the fort she was nearly two miles off.

Mr. Cowie took good observations of the Coreans, and counted more than thirty-six guns in position. "Besides these were seen a number of single pieces carried by two men. Each of these last, with trained men, helped to swell the army which formed upon the side of the hill.

Behind a stone wall the turning point of the river was almost reached, and when at a distance of about fifty yards from the shore a stream of fire poured from the large fort, followed in a few moments by a discharge of the guns from the fort on the right bank. The launches at once turned their bows on the main fort and the guns quietly replied, while the Palos and Monocacy coming up on a five knot tide, rattled away over the heads of the flotilla with their eight inch rifled guns.

Lieut. Commander Rockwell, with the Palos, made a splendid practice with the bow guns, while Capt. McCrea, who followed in the Monocacy, gave the enemy the benefit of his broadside battery at close quarters, so close that the vessel grazed some hidden rocks which formed the reef just above the bend in the river. Notwithstanding this accident which displaced the iron plate and caused her to leak, she kept up a steady fire till the forts were silenced.

During the action there was little or no breeze, and the thick smoke from the river almost hid the combatants. At intervals, however, it was noticed that the mortar from the walls was flying off in clouds as the shells burst from the works, and in ten minutes from the commencement of the firing, the Coreans were driven back over the hills.

Admiral Rodgers had said before the surveying party left his ship, "Don't fire unless you are fired upon, but if you are fired upon don't be the first to stop firing." There were no orders given to land, so that after Captain Blake had withdrawn himself as to the discomfiture of the enemy, the gunboats and launches were ordered to move round the bend and anchor a short distance above the scene of action.

The only casualties reported were on the Alaska launch. A sailor was in the act of pounding a howitzer when a ball struck him on the side of the head and shoulders. Another had two fingers cut off by the recoil of a gun. It seems strange that with the hot, close firing on the part of the Coreans such small damage should result, but it is believed this fortunate issue for the boats was owing to the large guns on the forts being elevated too much for the gunboats, and the launches were all more or less struck by balls and many narrow escapes took place, but fortunately nobody was hurt.

After the boat had rounded the point, the Coreans returned to their guns and in time to open fire upon the launch of the Benicia, which, was delayed, and left behind. Master Shraeder, in charge of the launch, did not hesitate to force a passage against all odds and join his companions, and as soon as the fire from the fort was delivered he coolly returned the fire and pushed on up the river.

At slack water, the boats headed down stream again, but before they started on the return to the squadron, a few shells were thrown over the hill into the fort. This procedure settled affairs for that day. The Coreans finding their forts of no use concluded to evacuate. They were seen marching out of the works in single file, and making a short route to the woods in the rear. The work of the surveying party being concluded, the vessels returned to the squadron without further molestation.

The Republican State Executive Committee of Ohio has announced some of the mass-meetings to be held during the campaign. House-Furnishing Facilitated.

PICTURES AND FURNITURE.

The Boston Transcript informs us that Messrs. [illegible] & [illegible], noted furniture dealers in that city, have opened a fine gallery of pictures in their store, in connection with the sale of furniture. The pictures embrace various subjects of landscape and still-life, many the production of local artists. Such provision, as the Transcript very truly observes, "have become the necessity of house-furnishing, but the expense of these wall decorations has driven people to cheaper works of art, such as chromos, etc. It has been conceived the idea of making the furnishing of houses more complete by associating with their chamber and other sets, suitable pictures, which are sold in conjunction, at rates far more reasonable than could be obtained by separate purchase. We believe, doubtless, they will profit by the venture. Nothing can be more convenient and fine than to be able to get landscapes and still-life to match your carpets, bedsteads, and crockery chosen for you by an experienced furniture dealer. The artists must also keep the furniture in mind in choosing their subjects. "A Duck Pond in July," for instance, would go nicely with a painted set; "A Dog after a Cat," would be the thing for a plain maple or oak set; "A Girl Coming Through Buckwheat," would look well with plain black walnut or mahogany; while for a truly gorgeous chamber, with carving and so forth, "A King Caught by a Tornado" would be about the thing. The clothes of the figures ought always to match the carpets and curtains in the parlors, and Messrs. [illegible] & [illegible] ought, however, to supply books as well as pictures, and their establishment will never be complete till they do. Everybody furnishing a house wants a library, and not a few do not exactly know what books it ought to contain, and this branch of business is now left entirely to the booksellers, who send home to people books without ever having seen the well-paper, carpets, chairs or tables, or, indeed, anything in the house. The result is frequently the most shocking incongruities. By getting the books where you get your furniture, all this would be avoided, and a single order given by a young couple in the course of half an hour would surround them at once with all the evidences of culture at a very moderate cost.

How to Know the Age of a Horse.

The colt is born with twelve grinders; when four front teeth have made their appearance, the colt is twelve days old; and when the next four come forth it is four weeks old; when the corner teeth appear the colt is eight months old; when the latter have attained the height of the front teeth it is one year old. The two years old colt has the bean, (the dark substance in the middle of the tooth's crown,) ground out of all the front teeth. In the third year the middle front teeth are being shifted; and when three years old these are substituted by the horse teeth. The next four teeth are shifted in the fourth year, and the corner teeth in the fifth. At six years the kernel is worn out of the lower middle front teeth, and the bridle teeth have now attained to their full growth. At seven years a hook has been formed in the corner teeth of the upper jaw; the kernel of the teeth next to the middle fronts is worn out, and the bridle teeth begin to wear off. At eight years the middle teeth are worn out of all the lower front teeth and begins to decrease to the middle upper front. In the ninth year the kernel has wholly disappeared from the upper middle front teeth, the hook on the corner teeth has increased in size, and the bridle teeth lose their points. In the tenth year the kernel is worn out of the teeth next to the middle front of the upper jaw; and in the eleventh year the kernel has entirely vanished from the corner teeth of the same jaw. At twelve years old the crown of all the front teeth in the lower jaw has become triangular, and the bridle teeth are much worn down. As the horse advances in age the gums shrink away from the teeth, which consequently receive a long narrow appearance, and their kernels have become metamorphosed into a darkish point, grey hairs increase in the forehead over the eyes, and the chin assumes the form of an angle.—Journal of the Farm.

It is a significant fact that the Democratic papers of the country stigmatize the late riot in New York as "the Orange riot." One would think to read these papers that the aggrieved parties were the Irish Catholics, whose civil and religious rights had been assaulted or threatened by Protestants. The Democratic papers want to please and cozen the Catholic vote by calling these riots Orange riots, and they do not care how the insult incenses the Protestant sentiment of the country.

TRAVELING LUNATICS.—A gentleman and lady appeared at one of the hotels in Louisville, Ky, on Saturday night last, and the gentleman registered their names as J. D. Freeman and wife, Brocton, N. Y. The clerk, of course, gave them one room, to which they were shown by a servant. In a few minutes a ring came from their room, and the lady protested against occupying the same room with Mr. Freeman, saying excitedly that she was not his (Freeman's) wife; that he was a crazy man she was taking North with her. Mr. F. protested that it was his wife who was crazy, and that he was taking her North with him. They were assigned separate rooms, and in the morning they appeared at the breakfast table all right, having amicably settled their difficulties.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue is rapidly reducing the number of Assistant Assessors and other subordinate revenue officials in different states. Reductions were made to-day in several western districts.

An order was made to-day extending the mail service on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad from Chetapha, Kansas, to Prior Creek, Indian Territory, fifty-four miles, from August 1st, proximo.

Commissioner Pleasanton has written a letter to Assessor Jourdon, of Brooklyn, in which he expresses his deep sympathy with the family of Clinton Gilbert, who was killed while discharging his duty, and closes as follows: "It may not be improper to inform your whole force that in view of the growing perils of the civil service, it is my intention to recommend to Congress, through the proper channels, that pensions shall hereafter be granted to those disabled and to families slain in the Internal Revenue service, who merit the same consideration as the sailor and soldier maimed or killed on the battle field."

The supply of beer stamps is now equal to the demand and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue now furnishes them promptly to all applicants.

Captain Bernard reports from Camp Bidwell, Northern California, that he has sent Lieutenant Kyle and a party of men to Fall river and Big Valley to investigate the reports of apprehended danger from the Indians in those localities. Captain Bernard also says the Indians say that their agent will give them nothing, and they are forced to hunt for roots or starve. If this be true, when the season is over they may steal stock to live. General Ord, informed of Captain Bernard's communication, says: I learn that the Piutes have nearly all left the Indian reservation at Pyramid Lake for want of food. Fish was their only food, which has failed them and the Indians have taken to the mountains and valleys north, near and in Oregon and Pitt River to hunt for roots and obtain food. These valleys are more or less occupied by settlers and ranche men. If the Indians in their hunger should, as they are likely to do, kill stock or cattle, the ranchman will probably retaliate by shooting some stray and perhaps innocent Indian, and in this way lead to difficulties. I think if the Indian Department of Neveda are powerless to give food to the starving Indians, military commanders should be authorized to issue orders to send food in limited quantities, which would be less expensive than having to fight them. Every precaution will be taken to prevent a difficulty, but starving Indians cannot be reasoned with.

Gen. Cowan, Acting Secretary of the Interior, to-day telegraphs to Hon. John D. Long, at Vabalboro', Me., asking him if he can come here at once to take charge of the duties of Vincent Collier, Indian Commissioner, so as to allow the latter to go to Arizona and New Mexico. Long is requested to come prepared to stay two or three weeks. Hon. John Stuart, at Philadelphia, President of the Board of Indian Commissioners, was at the same time notified of the action of the Department. The object of Mr Collier's trip to New Mexico is to assist Superintendent Pope in his efforts to induce the famous Apache chief, Cochine, to visit Washington City and make peace with the whites.

Information was received at the Indian Bureau to-day of the death of Arimigo, the principal chief of the Navajo nation of Indians. He died near Fort Defiance, New Mexico, June 5, of old age.

The claims of Kentucky for reimbursement for equipping volunteers during the war, it is understood, will be taken up at the Treasury Department to-day, and a final decision is soon expected.

The Ku Klux Investigation Committee to-day examined Jno. L. Morris, Attorney General of Mississippi, and a native of Tennessee, ten years a resident of Mississippi, and a Confederate judge during the war. He had no personal knowledge of the Ku Klux, but knew of their existence in the State, the organization being confined to two tiers of counties on the Alabama line. He said it was almost impossible to convict them, not only for the reasons that they are disguised and people are afraid to testify against them, but because public sentiment is generally disposed to ignore them altogether. The main purpose of the organization is to intimidate negroes and control the negro vote. The great mass of the people of the State are well disposed and orderly, but allow themselves to be influenced by old leaders, who, considering negro suffrage an outrage, have determined to remove it when in power, and meanwhile to render it as harmless as possible. In the opinion of witness the existence of the Ku Klux organization will be as plainly apparent at the next election as it was in 1868 and 1869.

Judge Benning, of Columbus, Ga., and Captain Paine, of Savannah, Ga., were briefly examined, but testified only as to the condition of affairs in their immediate neighborhoods, which they represented as perfectly peaceable, and they know nothing about the Ku Klux elsewhere.

The Secretary of the Treasury this afternoon approved the regulations of the Board of Supervising Inspectors of steamboats, and they therefore have all the force and effect of law. The bill originally framed was manifested by Congress, and embraces some provisions not yet approved by the Board, but postponed for further consideration in January next. Under the present law and regulations penalties for violations of the statutes have been increased, thereby requiring strict observance of means to prevent frequent disasters. The subject of life-saving apparatus was thoroughly considered, and it was found that in practical tests many were inferior and were insufficient in buoyancy. The Board determined that every life-preserver should contain sixty-four pounds of cork block, and upon the subject of life boats the Board have determined that the old standard of buoyance is too great, it being regulated to sixty persons. The standard capacity is now thirty persons for each boat, which enables a boat to be operated where it was formerly merely an air tank to which persons could cling. Where a steamer is incapable to conveniently carry a sufficient number of life boats in the ratio of thirty persons to each boat, including the crew, she may carry in lieu of them the rafts, and the aggregate of these appliances may answer to the requirement of the law. As to the number of persons which may be stated in the certificate of inspection, and where it is determined by the master inspector that the steamer cannot carry a sufficient number of boats and rafts, the steamer may carry other appliances which shall have been approved by the Board, in the shape of saving mattresses, movable desks, beds, etc. A life preserver, which may be applied to the body, is required in all cases for all passengers and the crew on all kinds of steamers. The proviso in the seventh section of the law, applicable to river steamers, is that where the character of navigation is such that in the opinion of the Supervising Inspector metallic life boats can be dispensed with. He is authorized to exempt any such steamer from carrying the same, or may require a substitute therefor at his discretion. The Board however have deemed it necessary that there should be a reform on Eastern rivers, and have made the requirement for full equipment of life saving apparatus as in all other cases, bringing all steamers under the same rules and regulations, the fullest provision being made for increased fire extinguishing apparatus, and in all instances of fire, the pumps are all required to have bilge connection so as to be operated in discharging water from the hold in case of leaking, and additional pumping facilities are provided which may also be turned to account for fire apparatus. The matter of lock safety valves on boilers, which was left somewhat discretionary with the inspector, to take wholly from the control of the engineer, is required nevertheless to be attached to the boiler, and if left unsecured the responsibility is on the inspector himself. The second subdivision of section eleven requires inspectors to see that boilers are provided with various means of safety, among which it required that boilers shall be made of good and suitable material, that openings for the passage of water and steam and all pipes and tubes exposed to heat have proper dimensions and free from obstructions, that the space between and around the flues are insufficient, that the flues are circular in form, that the fire-line of the furnace is at least two inches below the prescribed water line, and the arrangement for the delivering of fuel is such that the heaters cannot be injured thereby, and to indicate the pressure of steam suitable, a steam register that will correctly record each excess of steam carried above the prescribed limit, and the highest point obtainable, which shall be taken wholly from the control of all persons navigating such vessels; and secondly, inspectors shall see that adequate and certain provision is made for an ample supply of water to feed the boiler at all times; also that means for blowing out are provided so as to thoroughly remove mud and sediment from all parts of boilers when they are under pressure of steam. The Board by its determined manner by which these provisions shall be carried out have approved of various appliances adapted to the purpose. The Board have also provided for further disciplining the crew, in order to prepare them for the exigency of disaster, and of working various means to save the boat and life. The station bill designates for every one a part of duty in case of disaster, in other words, every man knows what he has to do so as to avoid complication and disorder. The rules require all steamers to keep a log for depth, and for recording all events connected with the vessel. The engineer is required to keep a record of the condition of the boiler and other machinery which shall be open for inspection, and when he is succeeded by another engineer he is required to deliver to his successor a written account of the condition of the machinery, failing to do this his license will be revoked. While the steamer is on her way the engineer is required to remain on duty until formally relieved. The law requires that an engineer before receiving his license, shall be examined as to character, habits of life, knowledge of steam, and his experience as an engineer; and also proofs of which he is to produce is in support of his claim, such license is to be suspended or revoked on satisfactory proof of negligence, intemperance or wilful violation of any provision of the law. This proviso applies as well to the master, mate or pilot. The Board has also determined the manner in which boiler plates shall be marked or stamped, but postponed until their next annual meeting consideration of the mode by which the tensile strength of the plates shall be tested. The Board has in pursuance of section 47, recommended the adoption of a code of signals and approved of fog horns for sailing vessels. The Board also provided the manner in which bulkheads should be constructed on wooden steamers, one forward and one abaft the engines and boilers, and also a bulkhead in the forward part. It has also determined the manner in which refined petroleum may be carried on passenger steamers on routes where there are no other means of transportation. Petroleum is not to be ignitable at a temperature not exceeding 110° fahrenheet, and is required to be put up in substantial packages, the name of the manufacturer and temperature at which it ignites stamped on the package, the same to be stowed on the yards and forward deck, remote from all fires. Owing to the short mess of time to obtain all appliances required by law, the Board determined on these as to boilers and increased life saving apparatus, which will not be required until on or after the first of January next. All life boats, detaching apparatus for the same, safety valves, etc, heretofore in use and which have been approved by the Board are retained according to their capacity if in accordance with the rules. All other provisions and rules go into effect as soon as the necessary forms shall be prepared for that purpose.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The barometer has fallen slightly since Monday evening at the Rocky Mountain stations. It has risen in the Middle and Eastern States, but is now again falling rapidly from the lakes and Texas, eastward to the Atlantic coast. The area of low barometer is over Lakes Huron and Ontario. The temperature has been generally lower than Monday, but the barometer is again rising in the east Atlantic. Southeast winds are reported from North Carolina to New Jersey and southwest winds from Pennsylvania to Maine. Rain and threatening weather extends from Georgia to Virginia, and westward to Mississippi. Light rain is also reported from Minnesota and Vermont.

Probabilities—It is probable that the barometer will continue low in the Gulf States, with increasing southerly winds and rain from Louisiana to Western Virginia, and eastward to the Atlantic. A falling barometer with threatening and rainy weather, will probably prevail very generally on Wednesday in the Middle and Eastern States, and brisk winds from the south are probable for the coast. Local rains will probably extend over Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin to-night.

From Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., July 18.

The annual conclave of the Supreme Conclave, order Heptaph, or Wise Men, commences here to-morrow. About 30 delegates are already here representing 16 States. A large number of representatives have yet to arrive.

Capt. C. N. Blodgett, of the steamer Jno. Morgan, it is feared was drowned last night. His hat was found on the vessel this morning. He has not been seen since midnight.

Jas. Garett, champion of Indiana, defeated Harry Choate, champion of Ohio, to-night, by a score of 1,200 to 1,162. The game was for $200 a side and the championship of Ohio and Indiana, 1,200 points up.

The engine of an excursion train was thrown from the track of the Kentucky Central Railroad, near Falmailh last night, by two cross-ties laid on the track by some villain. The engine was almost destroyed by fire.

San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.

The report that Harry Meiggs has contracted for the shipment of six hundred Chinamen from San Francisco to Peru to labor on public works, is doubtful.

The Methodist church (brick) costing $75,000, in Virginia City, fell a mass of ruins last evening, burning a dwelling and negro family alongside. A negroe's ribs were broken but no lives were lost.

Arrived, Bark Norseman, from Liverpool.

It is reported and generally believed that Manuel Sareda, generally known as the "Tiger of Alica," who for twenty years has maintained the guise of Independent Chieftainship of the district of Topic, Western Mexico, and defying all attempts of the government to subdue him, died recently from the reopening of old wounds.

Mysterious Disappearance.

LOUISVILLE, Ky, July 18.

Considerable anxiety is felt concerning the mysterious disappearance of General Thomas D. Sedwick, of New Albany, Ind., who left his home last Monday morning, and has not since been heard from.

Base Ball.

New Railroad Project.

The Commissioners of the Louisville and Chattanooga Grand Trunk Railroad, held a meeting at the Willard Hotel to-night, and appointed a Committee of three to open books for subscription to the enterprise.

Trustees Appointed.

BOSTON, July 18.

Messrs. Kimball, Plummer and Talbott, trustees of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad, having resigned, the Supreme Court to-day appointed Chas. P. Clark and W. T. Hart, of Boston, successors, and the latter, upon whom the choice of third trustee devolved, has chosen D. T. Chapman, of New York.

Editorial Excursionists.

MARQUETTE, July 18.

The editorial excursionists from New York, Chicago, and other prominent cities arrived here this morning on their way to examine the country through which the Northern Pacific Railroad passes. They all are well.

Odd Fellows' Celebration.

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.

The Odd Fellows' procession this morning was one of the finest ever seen in this city. All of the brethren wore the handsome regalia of the order and the bands were out in full uniform, and numerous flags and banners were carried in the line. The lodges of this city and county were out in full force. A large delegation from other points were present. The column was a mile in length, and contained about 3,000 persons. After completing the march a banquet was partaken of at the Rink, at which place there was a reunion, and a ball will take place this evening.

The Crispins.

BALTIMORE, July 18.

The shoemakers employed by a prominent manufacturing establishment in this city, struck a few days since because of an attempt at reduction of wages. The firm immediately wrote to Lynn, Mass., for workmen, making no mention in their letter of the difficulty with the Crispins here. About a dozen men came from Lynn and went to work yesterday morning, but after being informed of the facts in the case, quit work, and return home this evening.

Regatta.

TOLEDO, O., June 18.

The preliminaries have been arranged for a regatta to take place at Put-in Bay on the 6th and 7th of September. The first day's contest will be for yachts of the second class, including open boats, and the distance sailed will be 20 miles. On the second day the first-class yachts will race, sailing over a 30 mile course. Handsome prizes will be given in each class, the first prize in the first class being $125 in cash and a silver epergne valued at $100.

Heavy Rains.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 18.

Heavy rains, accompained by destructive winds, have prevailed here for several days. The dams at the Langly cotton factory, on Horse Creek, six miles from Augusta, broke at four o'clock this morning. The volume of water struck the South Carolina Railroad and swept away the embankment and track for half a mile. The damage to the road has been repaired and trains are running. About three hundred operatives in the mill are thrown out of employment. Loss $500,000.

Bridge Across the Hudson.

POUGHKEEPSIE, July 18.

Horatio Allen, of New York, engineer, has handed in a report to the Poughkeepsie Bridge Company, relative to the proposed Hudson River bridge at this point. He proposes to erect a suspension bridge 130 feet above the surface of the water, 3,400 feet in length, two spans 1,100 feet in length each, and two one-half spans 650 each, the whole structure to cost $2,600,000.

Hamilton College.

UTICA, N. Y., July 18.

The fifty-ninth commencement of Hamilton College is in progress. The prospects of a prosperous year of the college were never better. F. B. Daniels, son of Hon J. H. Daniels, of Wilmington, Illinois, took the second Kingsly prize for debator; C. E Branch, of Madison, Ohio, one of the Sophmore prizes; U. S. Bachman, of Kingsport, Tenn., the first prize in the Junior class. In the evening a concert was given in the stone church.

Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, July 19.

Gold is dull and steady for all transactions, at 112¾@112¾.

Loans were made at 1@2 per cent for carrying.

Clearances, $34,000,000.

Governments are firm and a fraction higher, and business light.

The stock market has been more active to-day, but feverish, in consequence of the decline in Northwestern and St. Paul, which is said to be caused by the disagreement between these two companies, which may result in their building parallel lines to Milwaukee and other points. Some parties believe that this will result in benefit to the preferred stock of both roads, as the companies would sell the common stock for building the new lines. The balance of the list has been strong, considering the depression, especially for Erie, New York Central, Hudson and Lake Shore.

Money easy at 2@3 per cent.

In Southern securities Tennessees and Missouris are very firm. The remainder are inactive.

AMONG the new arrests—is hay.

THE air yesterday was cool and bracing.

A GOOD many of the city churches are now closed.

THE wheat crop is reported to be extraordinarily large.

PEACHES, watermelons and green corn are late additions to the variety of our markets.

THE grapes are assuming a purple tint beautiful to behold. The yield of this luscious fruit will be large.

THE attention of oil operators, especially down the Allegheny, is called to the advertisement of Richardson & Co, who carry on at Foxburg a blacksmith and machine shop.

MR. G. A. HALL, of Meadville, was knocked down and robbed about one and a half miles from Newmanville, Clarion county, on the 1st of July. The outrage was committed in daylight. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

THE RACE TO-DAY.—Do not forget the race to-day at the Driving Park, between the horses Lillie, Frank Forrester and Grant. It will be a very interesting contest, as the horses are evenly matched. They trot for a purse of $1,000. The horses will be called at two o'clock, sharp.

THE HORTICULTURALIST is a journal of rural art and taste, is devoted to cottage gardening; home embellishments; flowers, fruits, shrubs. It is handsomely illustrated with articles from standard writers. $2 50 per annum. Henry T. Williams, No. 5 Beekman street, New York.

PERSONAL.—Edwin Fowler, son of John P. Fowler, returned on Friday evening last from a six weeks' trip over the Western plains, having visited Denver, Cheyenne, and other promising cities of the West. He went away an invalid, and returned with an increase of twenty-five pounds.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—About five o'clock yesterday forenoon, a teamster named James Maginnis, working at Hinkley Bro's., refinery, on the plankroad, was seriously injured by the upsetting of a load of oil which he was hauling into the refinery, and which fell over him. It is feared he is fatally injured. He has a wife, but no children.

BASE BALL.—The Union B. B. C., of Union City, and the Americus club, of this city, are to play a match game at the Driving Park on next Friday afternoon at half-past two o'clock. Admittance free. There will be a meeting of the Americus Club this evening.

—The Mutuals, of Meadville, and the Senecas, of Oil City, will play the third game of the series on the 27th, in this city.

THE picnic of Father Sheridan will be held at Kelly's Grove on Thursday next, the 20th inst, where a grand dinner will be served for five thousand persons. All are invited to attend. The proceeds are to be devoted to the liquidation of the debts of the St. Titus Church. There will be a procession from the church at half-past eight o'clock a. m. Dinner about one o'clock. Good music will be furnished. There will be a platform for dancing. Good order will be preserved.

SPANISH MACKEREL.—Talking of fish, we have come to the best "catch" of the season. Last evening mine host Matthews, of the Abbott House, sent to our sanctum a Spanish mackerel, the most palatable luxury of the season. Its silvery sides are as bright as a Spanish dollar, and if such game could be caught with anything but a silver hook it would be more plentiful in this market. But the guests of the Abbott House have no cause to complain of the larder, for there is no luxury but that Matthews will have it.

NEW RESIDENCES AND BUILDINGS.—Mr. Van Ulrich, architect of this city, has drawn the plans and is supervising the building of the new Grandin Block at Tidioute, and an elegant private residence of Mr. Jesse Young at Pleasantville. The Grandin Block is 74x90, and three stories high, of brick, stone and iron. The building will contain the bank, a printing office, three stores and an Opera House, and will cost $60,000. Mr. Young's residence will be one of the finest in this region, in the Italian style of architecture, and will be finished with every modern improvement.

ENLARGEMENT OF SECOND NATIONAL BANK.—This building is about to be subjected to a very large increase of its proportions and entire change of external appearance, from plans just completed by Mr. Blackburn of Cleveland, who was the architect of the Parshall Opera House. The front of the building is to be extended four feet on Spring street, thus bringing it up to the front line of the lot, and an additional story to be constructed, and surmounted with a mansard roof. The brick walls on Spring and Washington streets will be replaced with white cut stone, and the corner will be oval shaped, affording space for the main entrance at that point. We have not seen the plans of the architect, but from the outline above presented it will be seen that the new structure will take rank among the finest yet erected in Titusville. We understand the work will be undertaken without unnecessary delay.

THE NEW ROBERTS BUILDING.—The heavy and substantial foundation which within the past few weeks has been laid for the new Roberts building on Spring street, has attracted considerable attention. The mason work is of solid cut stone, very strong, and bound in a manner that would indicate superior skill and workmanship. The structure will be 60 feet front, 110 feet deep and 74 feet high, with five stories. The basement, which is already about finished will contain, furnices for heating the building. The ceiling will be composed of galvanized iron, for the purpose of conveying the heated air to the places which run through the masonry to the top of the building, communicating with every room and passageway in the interior. This method of construction is entirely new, and is at once practical and convenient. The elevation will be very handsome in the renaissant style of architecture with mansard roof. The pillars will be for the most part composed of iron, manufactured by Bryan, Dillingham & Co, of this city. The key stones will be elaborately carved with architectural designs, and the quoins of nicolated stone. There will be an imposing contrast between the color of the brick and stone, which will materially add to the beauty of the elevation. The eastern side of the first floor, 20 feet front, adjoining the Opera House, is intended for a bank, to be called the Roberts Bank, the adjoining part to the west, 40 feet front, will probably be let for a dry goods or hardware store. The front part of the second floor will be divided into offices, and the rear into a hall, 40x60 feet and 28 feet high. The three upper stories will also be used for offices, &c. Gas, water, and heating flues will be admitted throughout the entire building, and the sewerage will be effected either through the projected sewer on Spring street or into the mill race in the rear. The building will be completed and ready for occupation by the 1st of April next. Mr. William Van Ulrich made the plans and specifications, and it promises to be one of the handsomest structures in Western Pennsylvania.

THE OLDEST PRODUCING WELL IN THE OIL REGION.—While passing through Rouseville yesterday our attention was directed to the Gould & Stowell well, a short distance south of the railroad track, on the Buchanan farm. This well, was put down in the fall of 1859, by Messrs. Rouse & Mitchell, the pioneer operators on the Buchanan farm It was sunk only to the first sand, and was pumped for several months at the rate of eight barrels per day, when it was sold to Mr. Potter, who went down to the third sand and obtained a production of three hundred barrels per day. This production was sustained for several months, when it again declined and the well occasionally changed ownership, till in 1865 it passed through the hands of the Sheriff into possession of the First National Oil Company and was disposed of by them to Gould & Stowell. For several months past it has sustained a production of from four to five barrels per day. It is unquestionably the oldest producing well in the region, and dates back to the earliest period of the oil operations following the success of Colonel Drake. It would be interesting to know the actual statistics of its production, but it is doubtful if any satisfactory record has been preserved.

AT a recent meeting of the Directors of the Warren and Jefferson Railroad Company, held in Warren, Colonel J. Condit Smith was elected President, Colonel L. F. Watson, Vice President, and J. G. McPherson, Secretary. The following are the names of the Directors: J. C. Smith, L. F. Watson, J. F. McPherson, R. Brown, J. R. Clark, J. W. Fall, T. D. Higgins and —— Smith. The Warren Ledger understands "that the work will soon be commenced. The completion of the road will give the Dunkirk, Warren and Pittsburgh road the coal carrying business of the country it is intended to open up. When we spoke a few weeks ago of the benefits soon to accrue to this place, we had in view the early completion of this road; and we are assured that the parties who have control of it are men who are able to build it, and that it is for their interest, and that they will do so."

THE Clarion Democrat says that "one day last week a hand in the employ of Mr. Crisman, of Newmanville, Clarion county, was engaged in sinking a well. He had sunk it to the depth of about seven feet, and while out at his dinner, a lady heard a strange noise in the well, and going to ascertain the cause, found a stream of water issuing from the bottom of the well, about six inches in diameter. In a few minutes the well was full, and the adjoining lot overflowed. It still continues to flow, and quite a large run is formed, where before was dry land. The water is strongly impregnated with minerals of some kind."

1. The color should be white, or light yellow with blue reflections, clear yellow indicates imperfect purification, or adulteration with inferior oils. 2. The odor should be faint and not disagreeable 3. The specific gravity at 60 degrees Fahrenheit, ought not to be below 0.795, nor above 0.804. 4 When mixed with an equal volume of sulphuric acid of the density of 1 53, the color ought not to become darker, but on the contrary lighter. A petroleum that satisfies all of these conditions, and possesses the proper flashing point may be set down as a pure and safe article.

NEW CHURCH AT ENTERPRISE.—The citizens of Enterprise, Warren county, have united in the project of building a church for the accommodation of all, without denominational bias. A desirable lot has been secured, a considerable fund raised, and plans adopted. Messrs. S. S. Benedict, T. V. S. Morian, and W. J. Booth, Trustees of the organization, advertise for proposals for the work, which is to be commenced as soon as practicable. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of Mr. Morian, in Enterprise.

The Erie Republican says: "The gas well of Councilman Kalvalage, at Eagle Brewery, is said to be the best in the city. On Sunday the subtle element blew off at a pressure of one hundred and twenty pounds. The South Erie Iron Works have made arrangements to use a portion of the gas from this well, and are now laying the pipes, some one thousand feet being necessary to make the connection."

ASSOCIATED ARTISTS' MINSTRELS.—This troupe of minstrels are to give a performance in the Opera House, on Saturday evening, the 22nd inst. They are spoken very highly of by those who have seen them. Their performance will undoubtedly be well attended, as they have a number of talented actors in the company.

United States Courts at Erie.

ERIE, July 18, 1871.

The U. S. Circuit Court, Third District, comprising the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, Hon. William McKennan presiding, opened at the Court House in this city yesterday. David Bran, Peter McGloin, M. S. Vincent and Charles Fisher were appointed bailiffs for the term.

The trial list, civil causes only, was called over by the Judge, but none were ready, from the absence of counsel or witnesses. In the case of Burton Bros. vs. the National Insurance Company of Boston, B. F. Marshall, Esq, attorney, moved to file the record. Granted, and the Court adjourned till 10 a.m. to-day.

In the District Court of the Western District of Pennsylvania, Hon. Wilson McCandless presiding, the list of grand and traverse jurors was called, showing but few present. His Honor remarked that he would not impose fines for absence, as it was the first day of the term. The district is large, and most of the jurors could not arrive till night. Court adjourned till to-morrow.

At 10 o'clock the courts convened. A large number of counsel, jurors and witnesses were in attendance. Mr. S. C. McCandless is clerk of the District Court, and Mr. H. D. Gamble of the Circuit Court. The District Attorney, H. Bucher Swope, Esq, formerly of Clearfield County, is too well known to require introduction. He brings to the discharge of his duties rare ability, long experience in criminal prosecutions, and such a determination to vindicate the majesty of the law, as can but exert a wide-spread and wholesome influence. The two Judges have been often described in the papers and it only needs to be said that both of them appear to be as "to the manner born" and of full mental and physical vigor, though their whitened locks show that they are of that age when the maturest judgment may be reasonably expected.

United States Marshall A. Murdock, Esq., and his Chief Deputy Col. John Hall, have put in their necessary appearance We notice about the room Collector Gray, of Franklin, special Postoffice Agent, C. B. Gould, of Emporium, Ex-Postoffice Agent, Hon. A. Humphrey, of Tioga, Jas. McGregor, Esq, Pension Agent of Pittsburgh, and many others.

On opening the Court, the list of grand jurors summoned was called, and the following were duly empanelled and sworn:

Hon. John S. Mann, of Potter county, Foreman.

W. W. Ketchum, Luzerne county.
A. Gould, Erie county.
D. K. Baker, Erie county.
Charles Foster, Erie county.
James Boyd, Allegheny county.
James B. Glenn, Allegheny county.
R. H. King, Allegheny county.
Joseph Forsyth, Allegheny county.
Louis Garber, Allegheny county.
Hon. A. Humphrey, Tioga county.
R. P. Scott, Butler county.
W. H. H. Riddle, Butler county.
O. A. Smith, Warren county.
M. H. Borland, Washington county.
John P. Crawford, Armstrong county.
L. S. Tinsman, Westmoreland county.
J. B. Johnson, Cameron county.

A. M. Taylor, McKean County; T. S Woodruff, Erie; John Douglass, Allegheny; Joseph Grubb, Crawford; J. W. Allison, Erie; G. W. Hood, Indiana; Charles B. Kenney, Allegheny; Joseph Mitchell, Butler; Kennedy; Crumrine, Washington; Thos. Smith, Allegheny; D. M. Crawford, Juniata; H. H. Wertz, Westmoreland; David Oner, Blair; John M. Grier, Butler R. H. Hunter, Erie; Russell Errett, Allegheny; Robt. Adams, Green; Josiah Cohen, Allegheny; James B. Ruple, Washington; R. E Parker, Juniata; J. B. Hubley, Allegheny; J. A. C. Ruffner, Indiana; Ferdinand Reiber, Butler; J. B. Earle, Cameron; J. H. Chapman, Erie; L. M. A. McCracken, Washington; George P. Fulton, Allegheny; Alexander Smith, Beaver; John F. Marthens, Allegheny; Alexander McKean, Washington; Cyrus Underwood, Washington; John Andrews, Allegheny; J. Wells, Erie; Theodore H. Creamer, Huntington; J. H. Dobbs, Erie; Charles McVean, Elk; J. W. Montford, Washington; Alexander Reed, Washington.

Judge McCandless charged the grand and traverse jurors, taking for his text the oath that had been administered to them, particularly dwelling upon the fact that entire secrecy as to the deliberations in the jury room should be maintained. His Honor then alluded to the violations of the Internal Revenue laws, and spoke of the great necessity that frauds should be stopped in this department. He then alluded to the violations of the Pension laws, and spoke of the sacred character attached to the appropriation of moneys for the support of the widows and orphans of our honored dead. Cases arising from infractions of Custom House law were dwelt upon at some length, also a violation of laws by foreign coasting vessels trading at points along our frontier. The charge was a plain, direct, common-sense talk to the jurors as to the duties imposed upon them The grand jury then retired for deliberation, and Judge McKennan opened the Circuit Court. The cases put down for argument were continued to Wednesday The first trial case taken up was that of Shoop, Weiss & Co., vs. Wm. Reed, resulting in a verdict for the plaintiffs for $34 017 05. Messrs. Curtis, Souther, and Rathburn for plaintiffs; Hall & Rathburn for defendant.

The case of T. L Foster et al, Administrators of Asa L. Foster, dec., vs. Wm Reed, was tried and given to the jury.

On motion of Benj Grant, Esq, Mr Henry R. Long, of Union City, was admitted to practice in the United States District and Circuit Courts. The court adjourned at one o'clock.

The District Court was then opened and the Grand Jury came in with the following true bills of indictment:

No. 1. United States against James A Crockett, postmaster of Centre Road Station, Crawford county, Pa. 1st complaint Detaining and opening a letter. 2d complaint. Embezzling and destroying a letter containing articles of value. 3d complaint. Stealing from a letter.

No. 2. United States against Lavinia Lobree. Charge, forgery and felony.

No. 3. United States against Henry Sheppard and Adam Holzbach. Charge, selling and offering for sale five barrels of ale without having the proper stamps affixed.

No. 4 United States against Joseph K. Turner, of Titusville. Charge, forgery and felony.

No. 5. Same. Forging an oath of allegiance and uttering the same.

No. 6. Same. Forging a pension voucher and uttering the same.

No. 7. United States against Joseph K. Turner and Victoria Jackson. Charge, obtaining letters containing evidence of a claim by fraud and deception.

No. 8. Same. Charge, conspiracy to commit an offence against the laws of the United States.

No. 9. Same. Charge, conspiracy to defraud the United States.

No. 10. United States vs. Victoria Jackson. Charge, taking a letter out of the post office directed to another.

The District Court then adjourned to ten o'clock to-morrow.

It is probable that the Circuit Court will take up the whole of Wednesday with the civil list causes and the cases for argument, and that the District Court will take up the criminal calendar on Thursday. The city is full of strangers in attendance upon court, taxing to their utmost capacity the two principal hotels.

The Ellsworth House, presided over by Col. F. H. Ellsworth, so widely and favorably known all through the oil regions, is the favorite home for all who hail from that locality. The Colonel extends the right hand of fellowship to all old acquaintances with an unmistakable cordiality, and new friends at once soon feel at home with him. His house is a model of excellence in arrangement and in its general appointments. Everything is in order and as neat as a premium housekeeper could wish. The table is fully up to the period and shows that the catering is in the hands of one who has a genius in that direction. We give below a list of the guests who are registered at the Ellsworth:

Credit to Whom Credit is Due.

Editors Morning Herald:

As a spectator of the fire at the Van Syckel refinery on Monday morning last, and as having witnessed the whole management of the Fire Department in getting the fire under control, and finally subduing it, I think it but just praise to the department to say that their behavior on that occasion was never surpassed for steady and effective service, and never did firemen expose themselves or take more risks than did our gallant firemen. And another thing, the department was under the direction, from first to last, of Mr. Beverly, and I, as well as hundreds, would like to bear public testimony to the good judgment and skill with which he studied the situation and gave his orders accordingly. There was none of that rashness and fussiness which we sometimes see in officers in command, but Beverly was in constant consultation with Mr. Van Sickel, and then had the engines put in such a position and the streams pointed where they would do most good, and all so promptly and quietly, that I think he deserves public commendation. Our citizens do not half appreciate the voluntary and unpaid services of our firemen. No city has a more effective Fire Department

SPECTATOR.

"There are at present ten new wells going down at East Sandy—nine of which are drilling and the other one nearly ready. Two of these wells will be completed inside of two weeks. There are now six pumping wells in the East Sandy Oil District, averaging from fifteen to fifty barrels daily. The new well, struck yesterday, is yielding fully fifty barrels per day. The gas still continues to flow from the old Burning well with undiminished force. Pipes have been laid from this well to all the wells in the neighborhood—about twenty—and they are all run by gas. With this large amount utilized, it is estimated that enough to run fifty additional wells is allowed to go to waste. From twelve to twenty new wells are projected, the necessary lumber for derricks, etc., being already on the ground in many cases. The prospects of the operators in the East Sandy oil district are very flattering, there being no doubt about the striking of oil in every well put down. While there is a good deal of travel to that locality, the hotel accommodations are miserable. The only boarding house there is nothing but an apology. It appears as if one board had been set up in the ground and others thrown at it till a shanty was built. The bill of fare consists of shadow soup, half raw ham and stale bread, with something called coffee to wash it down. A good opportunity is offered some enterprising man to open a hotel at that point."

JUMPING.—It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that there will be a jumping match next Saturday at the Driving Park, between a picked five from Union City, and Centreville. Mr. Bob Way, a champion, will give an exhibition of his remarkable ability for jumping.

JOSEPH K. TURNER.—By our court report in another column, it will be seen that Mr. Turner's case has been before the Grand Jury, and that six bills of indictment have been found against him and his confederate, Victoria Jackson. It is not known whether his trial will come off this term or put over till next January.

Varieties.

—Justice may be tardy but she is generally sure, notwithstanding the rag that covers her optics. Subscribers to the many endless volumes of the "World's History," or other serial publications that are being vended by traveling dealers in this city, will be glad to know that a lady recently refused to accept the two hundreth volume of a work which will be finished in the year 1900, and when the agent became saucy, had him arrested and locked up, and his books with him.

—A cool berth this warm weather is that of driving an ice wagon. If you don't believe it, look beneath the canvas cover of the next that passes, and see the delivery boy sitting on a cake of ice with his teeth chattering. The only objection to this practice is that it seems, to melt cavities in the ice, thus entailing loss upon the dealers.

—Quite a sensation was created on Spring street a day or two since, by the antics of an inebriated individual who was making attempts to get up a flirtation with the wooden cigar girl in front of Duffi's Segar store. After trying to attract her attention by waving his "bandanna," he crossed the street and discovered his mistake. He said he had never associated with the fair sex much and thought he knew her.

—A party by the name of Johnson amused himself yesterday afternoon by carrying fifty pounds of brick one mile and a half without resting, for the sum of ten dollars. This beats some of our young sports, who cannot carry one brick in their hats two blocks without standing on their heads.

—Peaches are coming into the market in large quantities now, but are so small that those who luxuriate upon them say they frequently slip into a hollow tooth and but little enjoyment is experienced in eating them.

—Those old fashioned "golden sweet" apples are exposed for sale on the fruit stands, the same old sort that we used to steal at the risk of a bite from neighbor Merriman's bull dog, throw the "Chinkins" at the school teacher, and give the cores to the boy with a lame toe.

—Over thirty pleasure seekers from this city visited Oil Creek Lake yesterday and spent the day in sailing upon its waters or pic-nicing upon its shores. Considerable excitement was created by the report that a fish several inches in length was seen, but it proved to be a smoked herring that had dropped overboard from one of the lunch baskets. The only fish taken at Oil Creek Lake since the visit of the Walton Club, consist of six "pumpkin seeds" brought home on Monday evening by S. H. Carpenter.

—It is rumored that the Common Council will soon pass an ordinance prohibiting hand-organ grinders from playing one tune over thirty times, or more than one day on the same corner. This is cheerful news, but would it not be better to come the "Borgia" on them, and split their music boxes up for kindling wood for the poor. This does not apply to the soldiers or sailors crippled by the war.

—Messrs. Dame, Smith & Co., have a solid gold plough in their show window that was ordered by one of our "oil princes." That is not the kind of an implement they used in our grandfathers days, but then the old folks did not have oil wells then, and such modern improvements as corns, Grecian bends, and potato bugs, and they drank their liquor clear, in a gourd.

—Some careless chap threw a green watermelon out of a fourth story window on Franklin street, last night, which hit an old washerwoman square on the head, caving in her hat and missing her hair. She remarked while picking the seeds out of her ear, "I guess we are going to have another hail storm."

FOR Coughs, Bronchitis and Consumption, in its early stages, nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Atlantic Extract of Golden Medical Discovery. It is a great blood purifier and strength restorer or tonic, and for "Liver Complaint" and Costive Conditions of the Bowels it has no equal. ☞ Scrofulous and skin diseases, as Pimples, Blotches, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas and Eruptions, yield to its wonderful properties. AN ORDINANCE

Amending the ordinance relating to fast driving within the city limits

Be it enacted and ordained by the Common Council of the City of Titusville, and it is hereby enacted and ordained by the authority of
